

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

- 1                    1.     A nozzle for injecting fuel into the combustion chamber of a gas
- 2 engine, comprising:
- 3                    a) a valve body having an inlet for receiving gaseous fuel and an outlet
- 4 for delivering such fuel to such combustion chamber.
- 5                    b) said outlet being so constructed and arranged to deliver such fuel at
- 6 a supersonic rate.

7